STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Mr. Jed. Hoskat of Lewiston, who walked to the White Mountains week before last returned on foot. He completed the journey home in four days.

L. Jennings, of Turner, has a Duchess of Oldenburg apple a foot, and has year, that its twenty apples on one stem, no larger than a dollar, 400 apples on a cluster. He has supported them on a chair so they will mature while breaking the limb.

A gentleman hogged a team at Farmington livery stable at Lewiston Saturday, to go to Leeds. When on the road, just below Otis's brick yard, he heard a train approaching and got out and took the horse by the head while the train was passing. His wife remaining in the carriage. The horse jumped and broke loose, the gentleman taking hold of the back by a shaft, and the speed of the horse was a short distance, when he whirled suddenly, overturned the buggy, and threw out the lady. He then planted himself from the carriage, but was stopped before going far. The lady was not much hurt; the gentleman was considerably hurt by the blow from the shaft. The buggy was broken and scarred.

Androscoggin.

Mrs. J. U. McIntyre, of Fort Fairfield, has sold her beautiful gray mare "Rose" to Woods Cook, the champion pumpernickel rider with Murray's circus. Price paid, $350.

A gentleman who visited the town of Fort Fairfield, Presque Isle and Mapleton, last week, thinks the farmers will not get very much more than half a crop. Several farmers have declared to him that they have to stack, and it will not take a very large yield to consume them.

Androscoggin.

At about eight o'clock Sunday night, the night Bay, on her to arm from Harpswell with fourteen persons on board, struck on Long Island ledge, just west of Little Chebeague. The fog was so thick that very little could be seen. The party, including a number of ladies, remained on the island during the night, where the hospitable inhabitants did all that could be done to make them comfortable. By means of cables attached to the mainland shore the wet got off the ledge at 5 o'clock next morning, and fortunately escaped with trifling damage to her keel.

Monday evening the Portland Mercantile Base ball club, accompanied by their band, arrived at Lewiston. The club, which is composed of the employes of the Portland Company, played with the Lewiston club on the grounds of the latter, and defeated them by a score of 40 to 4.

A LOUD WAIL.

That was a loud wail sounded by the Commercial, in double leaded type, last evening, and indicates that the Democratic rulers are becoming alarmed at the evidence that the people have discovered their "little game." The manifest design to use the Greenback movement solely to hoist Democrats into all the important offices, has produced a reaction that is rapidly smashing the programme so nicely arranged by the Bourbons of Penobscot County, and they are again quaking with dread, as they see the Republican columns moving into line under the Old Flag.

The Soft-Money-Democratic organ finds itself in a double trouble. The Republicans whom it hoped to catch in the Greenback net are escaping from the snare of the Democratic fowler, and on the other side scores of honest Democrats are revolting against the shameful abandonment of the hard-money doctrines of the party. In this strait the organ emits a loud wail, and whistles it up with a terrified appeal to the "battle-scarred" Democracy to rally in its support. Marcellus thus cries aloud to the faithful:

"These facts call upon the Democracy to be on the alert. Let them come out to their Convention on Thursday of next week in full numbers. Let there be a careful observation of the field. Let them array their battle-scarred columns on the side of THEIR ETERNAL PRINCIPLES, and strike their heaviest blows in behalf of their ANCIENT CAUSE and of the people's rights."

As Marcellus has become somewhat confused of late as to those "eternal principles" and that "ancient cause" of Democracy, we will cite a little from eminent Democratic authorities for the benefit of the "battle-scarred" delegates thus summoned to deal with the issue of honest money vs. an inflated irredeemable currency:

"A paper currency is a great curse to any people, and a particular curse to the laborer of any country, for its depreciation always falls upon the laborer."

ANDREW JACKSON.

"Capital maybe produced by industry accumulated by economy, but only jugglers will propose to create it by legerdemain tricks with paper."

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

"Irredeemable paper money converts the business of society into a mere lottery; and when the collapse comes, as come it must, it casts laborers out of employment, crushes manufacturers and merchants and ruins thousands of honest, industrious citizens."

JAMES BUCHANAN.

"It is safe to affirm that all experience in its use [paper currency] as a circulating medium has demonstrated the proposition that it cannot by any legislation, however stringent, be made a standard of value, or the just equivalent of gold and silver."

NATHAN CLIFFORD.

"I know of no evil which mere legislation can produce, so hard for the great body of the community as this of an irredeemable paper currency."

GOVERNOR INGERSOLL.

[From the Bangor Democrat, Feb., 1867.]

"The country to-day is precisely in the condition of a man suffering with the delirium tremens, in consequence of the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. The patient's life can only be saved by gradually or immediately depriving him of his alcohol. THE COUNTRY IS NOW IN A FEARFUL DELIRIUM IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE EXCESSIVE USE OF AN IRREDEEMABLE PAPER CURRENCY.

"On this important question THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE OR SENTIMENT IN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY. To a man they are agreed that there must be a SPEEDY RETURN TO A SPECIE BASIS, AND THAT RAG MONEY MUST GIVE PLACE TO THE HARD CURRENCY OF THE CONSTITUTION."

[From the Bangor Commercial, Oct. 29, 1874.]

A Noble Declaration!

The great Tammany Hall meeting of last Tuesday evening put forth the following ringing declaration:

"We denounce the increase, we denounce the needless continuance of a RAG CURRENCY INCONVERTIBLE WITH COIN."

"We denounce that perpetual peril to the public faith—GOVERNMENT DEBTS MADE A LEGAL TENDER."

[From the Maine Democratic Platform 1875.]

"A sound currency, coin or its equivalent, essential to stability in business and a restoration of prosperity. Steps toward specie payment and, no step backward."

[From the Bangor Commercial.]

"There is no stringency in the Money Market at all. Probably there has never been a time in the whole history of the country when there was so much idle money as now; and never a time when it could be obtained in such abundance and on such favorable terms on good securities, as at this very hour."

[From the Bangor Commercial Oct. 4, 1873.]

* * * * "Now is the auspicious time to resume specie payment. When can we hope for a more favorable opportunity?

* * * * The people have had WARNINGS ENOUGH. Let them now be wise in time. Let specie payment be resumed; and let it be resumed NOW."!

With these "eternal principles" in view now let us see the Penobscot Democracy rally for Emery and Stultification, Ludd and Rag Money!

TIMELY THOUGHTS FOR FARMERS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

It is a little too easy to laugh at the Socialists, as Mr. Hewitt's committee and the audience did on Saturday. Socialistic notions are very laughable, it is true, but it is a sad fact that a great many persons in this enlightened country hold these same absurd notions. Moreover, the number is not perceptibly diminishing; to all appearance, it increases. These people are not convinced by ridicule, however much it may be deserved. An overturning of society, which seems only laughable to others, seems eminently desirable to them, and political effort is mainly directed by a sincere desire to accomplish changes which appear to most men in the last degree absurd. If there were to be considered only the few who logically avow hostility to the whole established order of things, ridicule would be as appropriate as it is easy. Unfortunately behind them are multitudes of voters, who do not as yet push theories to logical conclusions, but who are nevertheless constantly influenced by the very actions to which the Socialists only give full and free expression. It is not a laughing matter, but a very sombre fact, that a great body of voters in this country has come to consider that they are wronged by the exercise of rights of property by individuals that there is some gross injustice in the possession of large property by a few and little or no property by the many; and that the poor majority has some some sort of right to resist payments of money loaned or of interest thereon, and to demand that the power of Government shall be employed to cut down the profits of the rich and to increase the incomes of the poor.

Until recently it has been the general belief that the great number of farm-owners in this country would form an effectual barrier against any assault upon rights of property. But it has come to pass that many farmers have adopted ideas essentially communistic in two respects. A very large number of them desire repudiation of local or national indebtedness. A large number also, want inflation of the currency, in order to secure higher nominal prices for land or products. The fact that enormous sales of breadstuffs abroad are effected only because the prices here are low, and that the farmers themselves would be the chief sufferers if inflation should so raise prices as to check exports, does not have weight with them. Neither do they rightly estimate the enormous losses of a community which result from repudiation of its debts. These farmers think only of immediate gains—lighter taxes and higher prices—and they find themselves in unnatural alliance with socialists who are as hostile to ownership of land as to ownership of bonds, and whose real purpose is to destroy the savings of all who have accumulated property, and to place on a level in rewards the shiftless spendthrift and the most thrifty and enterprising accumulator of wealth.

The farmers are likely to be the chief sufferers from the prevalence of communistic notions. Money-lenders can protect themselves, and when debated public opinion and debauched laws give them no protection, they levy the heavier tax upon the community which foolishly tries to plunder them. Dealers, brokers and merchants also have a certain power of self-protection, which they are not slow to exercise. But the farmers, who are the owners of a great part of the real estate, have to pay the larger shares of the increased taxes which bad faith inevitably causes, and, as producers of the articles which are most affected in price by increase of foreign demand, they suffer more than anybody else from inflation of currency or hope of inflation. To whatever extent the ideas of Socialists prevail in this country, the farm-owners will pay much of the cost, and the help which some of them are giving to schemes of repudiation and inflation will bring greater loss upon them than upon any other class of citizens. It would be well if all the farmers in the country could read with care the wild statements made by Socialists before the Congressional Committee. Sensible property-owners would find therein less occasion for laughter than for indignation.

CONGRESSMAN FOSTER CONFESSES "CONCILIATION" A FAILURE.

[From the Cleveland, (Ohio) Leader.

A very important prop was knocked out from under the "policy" of President Hayes at Upper Sandusky by the forcible speech of the Hon. Charles Foster. From the beginning of President Hayes' Administration he has had no more sincere and effective supporter than Mr. Foster. When other Republicans stormed and threatened, Mr. Foster was calm and conciliatory, and urged the complainants to wait and see. The country has waited and it has seen. In summing up the result, Mr. Foster concedes that the policy has been a disastrous failure. He points out the unfortunate results of the conciliation policy, and asserts what most leading Republicans have long foreseen, that there must be a united North against the menace of the Solid South.

"I happen to be one who thought and believed that the President's Southern policy, so far as it related to the use of troops for the support of State Governments, was right. I sustained it upon the ground of high principle; nevertheless it could have been sustained on the ground of necessity. The President has extended to the people of the South the hand of conciliation and friendship. He has shown a desire, probably contrary to the wishes of the great mass of his party, to bring about by the means of conciliation better relations between the North and the South. In doing this he has alienated from him the great mass of the leading and influential Republicans of the country. He has lost their sympathy, and to a great degree their support. What has he received in return for these treasures of conciliation and kindness? How have these measures been received by the South? What advance can we discover in them of the recognition of the guarantees of the rights of the colored men under the Constitutional Amendments? We see Jeff. Davis making speeches as treasonable as those of '61, and these speeches indorsed and applauded by a great portion of their press and people. We see, also, the declaration of Mr. Singleton, of Mississippi, in answer to a question of mine on the floor of the House, declaring that his paramount allegiance is to peace and in war was due to his State. No gentleman from the South or even of the Democratic party has taken issue with him. I have no bloody shirt to wave. If there is one man in this country more than another who desires peace and quiet between the sections, I believe I am that man. Gentlemen may philosophize over this question until they are gray, but you cannot escape the discussion of this question so long as a solid South menaces the peace of the country. A solid Democratic South means the control of the country by the spirit and the men who sought its destruction. My own opinion is that there can be no peace.—This question will not go down until the menace of the solid South is withdrawn.—I had hoped that the policy of President Hayes would lead to the assertion by a very considerable party in the South of their antagonism to Bourbon Democracy. I confess to a degree of disappointment in this, though I think I see signs of a breaking up of the solid South in the Independent movement that seemed to be gaining a foothold in all sections of that country.—But the effective way to aid these Independent movements, this breaking up of the solid South, is for the North to present itself united against the solid South. A solid South under the control of the Democratic party means the control of the party by the slaveholding element. It means the repeal of the constitutional amendments, if not in form, in spirit. It means the payment of pensions to rebel soldiers. It means the payment for slaves lost in the Rebellion. IT MEANS THE ABROGATION OF THAT PROVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION WHICH DECLARES THAT THE CITIZENS OF ONE STATE SHALL HAVE ALL THE RIGHTS, PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES OF THE CITIZENS OF OTHER STATES.

If my Democratic friends, who seem to be anxious to bring about peace and quiet between the sections, are sincere, and desire to make their expressions effective, they should act with that party which presents a solid front, a united North; so long as we are menaced with the solid South it could be understood in the South that they are to act with the solid North. I do not believe that the solid South would exist in that condition a single year. They retain this position because they believe that they can have the support of a fragment of the North, and thus with this fragment rule and control the country. I would have no fear of the control of the country by the Democratic party if it were made up of something like equal proportions from all sections of the country. I discuss this question, first, because I believe it the most important question at issue in the pending campaign. I repeat, that it is the imperative duty of the North to meet the solid South with a united front."

The Commercial man is trying his hand at his old and very harmless device of counting up Democratic majorities before the election. He is always very free with the figures about this season of the year and always exceedingly anxious to forge them after the votes are counted. Just now he is assuring his readers that Mr. Powers has no attendance at his meetings, but that Dr. Ladd calls out admiring throngs and "electrifies" them with his eloquence and wisdom. This employment of our neighbor's talent, is like the boy making faces at the bear; it amuses the boy and don't trouble the bear. We know something here about Dr. Ladd's "fervor and eloquence" and certainly hope he will exhibit them as freely as possible throughout the District. We have the most gratifying advices of the excellent effect of the sound and substantial arguments of Mr. Powers and Mr. Davis in Piscataquis County, where the people know the difference between common-sense and blatherskite.

There are forty-nine Democratic counties in Ohio, and there have been Democratic defalcations in twenty-one of them. The amounts stolen vary from $4,000 (to $142,545.

Charles Young, Eph Holland's partner in the Cincinnati election frauds which sent Banning to Congress, has been pardoned by President Hayes. The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean says that all of these repeaters have now been released, mainly through the influence of Stanley Matthews.—N. Y. Times.

A NATURAL CONSEQUENCE. When the Greenback craze first struck Maine, Mr. Patten of Newport, was an early convert to the plausible theories of the latter-day political economists, and being a man of local influence was made President of a Greenback Club. At that time Mr. Patten had not examined the question, but his interest being excited, he began to study the subject. As he proceeded in his search for the truth, he became convinced that greenbackism as propounded by Messrs. Butler, Voorhees, Pomeroy, and Sam Cary, was not only a wild delusion but a fatal snare. True to his conviction, Mr. Patten withdrew from the club, and now proposes to go forth in the pending campaign and tell others the reasons which impelled him to leave the inflation quagmire and come up to the safe, hard ground of an honest money. Mr. Patten's conversion, has led to the resignation of other prominent men in the Newport Club, and will be followed by a general reorganization.

This is only a natural consequence.—Wherever there is a Greenback Club that contains members with a degree of candor which will lead them to impartially investigate the subject and the intelligence to weigh facts and results, all such will withdraw as soon as they have given attention to the matter. In a few weeks the Greenback party in Maine will be mainly made up of those business and political Micawbers who are waiting for something to turn up.—Boston Journal.

NEW MAGAZINES.

Perhaps the most striking paper in the ECLECTIC MAGAZINE for August, is "Eternal Hopes: A Reply to Many Critics," by the Rev. F. W. Farrar. Another note-worthy paper is one by his Highness Midhat Pasha, on "The Past, Present, and Future of Turkey;" and of exceptional interest is the second paper of the series entitled "Impressions of America," by Rev. R. H. Dale, on "Politics." The scientific articles are even better than usual, one on "The Origin of Flowers," leading off the number, while another entitled "A Fiery World," explains the probable physical condition of Mercury, the nearest to the sun of all the planets. "The Great Tropical Fallacy," by J. Archbuchnor Wilson, is not inferior in either interest or literary merit. There is a very suggestive article by Matthew Arnold, on "Johnson's Lives of the Poets," and also a brilliant review of "Pillet-ches-tus." The poetry and fiction of the number, (including four chapters of Wm. Black's "Macleod of Dare," and a lively short story entitled "A Romance by Rumbelow") are of exceptionally high quality; and the four Editorial Departments are well filled. There is a fine steel engraved portrait of Professor Helmholtz, the great German chemist, with a sketch of his life copied from Nature. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond St., New York.

FOR SALE.

COTTAGE LOTS BY THE SEASIDE.

The undersigned offers a portion of his desirable estate, situated in South Hancock, for sale in lots to suit purchasers. These lots form a portion of the end of the Neck, about one mile from and distant from Bar Harbor, about seven miles, from Swan and Goulsboro shows the same distance. They command an unbroken view of the waters of Frenchman's Bay, and of the Mountains of Mount Desert Island, and afford the best of facilities for sailing, fishing and bathing. It is not too much to say that there is no other place on the coast of Maine which combines so many attractions for a sea-side resort as this. Steamer May Field from Bar Harbor touches at this place, and Steamer Charles Houghton from Rockland three times a week.

For terms enquire of EPHRAIM CRABTREE South Hancock, Maine.

FIRST MAINE CAVALRY.

Reunion at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Aug. 7. The seventh reunion of the First Maine Cavalry Association is held in this city to-day, and attended by some one hundred and fifty of the former members of this favorite regiment. Nine Russian officers from the Czarowitz were here as guests of the regiment which rendezvoused at Camp Pendexter on the site of their camp at their encampment. There was a banquet at Granite Hall in the evening, an oration by Capt. E. H. Blanchard, and a poem by H. P. Tabor. Toasts were offered and speeches were made by Governor Connor, Senator Blaine, Gen. J. D. Myrick, Gen. J. A. Hill, Mayor Hamlin, of Bangor, Gen. J. S. Wells and others, and stirring letters were read from Gen. Smith, former commander of the regiment, Capt. C. A. Boutelle, of the Bangor Whig, Col. J. W. Spaulding and others.

YORK COUNTY.

A Rousing Convention—Wide Awake Republicans of York.

ALFRED, Me., July 7. The Republican County Convention, held here to-day, had an unusually large attendance, all the towns in the county being represented by the full number of 203 delegates. Hon. C. B. Thompson, of Newfield, was Chairman; S. E. Bryant, of Kennebunk, Secty. The following nominations were made: For Senator—Hon. Wm. P. Moody, Kennebunkport, (second term;) Hon. John F. Ferguson, (second term;) and James M. Haines, of Biddeford, County Attorney, Col. H. H. Burbank, of Saco; Commissioner, J. A. Bracket, of Lebanon; Sheriff, Hon John Hall, of North Berwick; Treasurer, R. H. Godsoe, of Alfred. The Convention adopted the resolutions reported by the Committee, Hon. Chas. E. Weld, of Kennebunk, as follows:

The first endorses the resolutions of the State Convention.

The second recognizes the eminent ability of Hon. Thos. B. Reed, representative to Congress for this District, heartily approves his congressional record, and commends him to the voters of the County.

The third pledges to the County nominees a united support at the polls.

An Eloquent Address by Hon Thos. B Reed.

Hon. T. B. Reed addressed an immense audience in the afternoon, on the questions of the currency, taxation of bonds, and other prominent issues, and it is pronounced on all sides an eloquent, convincing, and most able speech.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Temperance Demonstration.

BIDDEFORD, Aug. 7. The National Temperance Camphmeeting at Old Orchard commenced this morning with disagreeable weather and a small audience. To-morrow is Good Templars' day, when Gov. Perham, Hon. Joshua Nye, Hon. Hon. Kingsbury and others will address the meeting.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Boston Belting Company.

BOSTON, Aug. 7. The Journal says that a meeting of the Stockholders and Creditors of the Boston Belting Company this afternoon a proposition will be made to the creditors which if accepted will enable the company to pay its indebtedness in full, and to continue business under the present charter but with new management. The proposition to which every Stockholder approached has assented is that four fifths of the stock issued to the company be deposited of by and for the benefit of the company. In addition to these four fifths Durant and Chesver will surrender their entire stock and interest in the concern.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY ACCI-DENT.

Passenger Train Smashed up and a Number of Lives Lost.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 7. A passenger train on the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati road collided with a freight train this morning near Steubenville. It is stated that two persons were killed and twenty wounded; particulars soon.

Further Particulars.

The Fast Mail fast train on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, which left this city at 11.47 last night, met with a terrible accident one and a half miles west of Mingo Junction, Ohio. The train was composed of two baggage, one postal car, and two coaches, the latter being occupied by an excursion party.

At 2 A. M. at the point named the fast train, which was 20 minutes behind time, was running at the rate of forty miles an hour and collided with a freight train. The entire train except the hotel car and sleepers was thrown from the track and beautifully wrecked. Eleven or twelve persons are reported killed and a dozen or twenty seriously wounded. No names are yet received. All the passengers in the sleepers escaped without serious injury, the loss of life being confined to those in the forward cars occupied by the postal clerks and emigrants.

WASHINGTON.

Our Relations with China.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. It is stated that at a Cabinet meeting yesterday the Chinese question was discussed upon, Secretary stating that the Embassy will reach Washington in September. An endeavor will be made to modify existing agreements with China and especially relating to the immigration of Chinese labors. The main proposition contemplates speedy abrogation of so much of the existing treaties as allows free emigration and proposes to restrict the relations to those merely of a commercial character. The government do the other hand is to protect the Chinese laborers already in the country as long as they may choose to remain. It is supposed that the new minister chosen will be prepared to treat on this important question, and the understanding is that the Chinese government will cheerfully accede to any expressed wish to put a further demand for cheap labor aside from the entire empire. On the other hand, it is also expected that the Chinese government will as graciously accede to a suggestion of improved commercial relations between the United States and China. Whatever may be the demands made upon us the first one is resolved to make the first demand upon the Chinese government for discontinuance of Chinese emigration to our country.

Another Call for Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. The Treasury Department this afternoon issued the sixty-fifth call for the redemption of the $50,000,000 of 5.20 bonds, commonly of 1865. Principal and interest will be paid at the Treasury on and after the account of November next six, the interest will cease on that day.

MARYLAND.

A Freedman Outrage Charged Upon two Whites.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6. Intelligence was received in this city this evening of a dastardly outrage at Elkton, Cecil county, on Friday last, the victims being Mrs. Wilson and wife of J. B. Wilson, a prominent lawyer, and his niece, a young lady of 16 who was visiting the family. The scene of the outrage was a thickly shaded avenue bordering on the beach in front of the town, which at night is rendered very dark by the heavy foliage.

Early in the evening or on moonlight nights it is a popular resort among the young people of the town. Mr. Wilson's residence stands on this avenue, about half a mile from the centre of the city. About 9 o'clock Mrs. Wilson and her niece started down the avenue to make a call in the town. When about half the distance had been traversed, they heard steathy footsteps in the unpaved walk bordering the road, and at the same time saw two negroes coming toward them. The terrified ladies had not taken ten steps before they found themselves in the grasp of two ruffianly, repulsive-looking negroes, who threatened to kill them if they made an outcry.

Mrs. Wilson screamed wildly and tried to break away from her assailant, who dashed her in a brutal manner to make her desist. The young girl joined with Mrs. Wilson in screaming, and as the same time fought frantically with the second man who had her clasped in his arms. Being naturally strong and rendered still stronger by fear, the girl finally succeeded in wrenching herself free from the scoundrel's embrace, and ran up the avenue towards the house, shrieking. Her assailant, finding he could not overtake the girl, returned to the scene where Mrs. Wilson was still feebly struggling with the second brute. She was in a fainting condition when found, a few moments later, by a young man, who hastened to the scene. The two negroes had disappeared, evidently frightened off by his approach.

The whole country around was traversed by men who freely expressed their intention of hanging the brutes if they caught them. The search during the night was unsuccessful, but the next morning it was reported that the Sheriff rode to Frenchtown, a few miles below Elkton, where the steamer Fort Royal made a landing, and arrested two suspected men, George Johnson and Joseph Moss. They were taken back to Elkton, and committed to jail. Intense excitement prevails in the town where both women are well known and connected. Mrs. Wilson is lying in a critical condition at the residence of her husband. The younger lady had the clothing torn badly, and was considerably bruised by the rough usage she received during her struggle with her fiendish assailant.

YELLOW FEVER.

Thirty-seven New Cases.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. A special from New Orleans says there are 15 cases of yellow fever at Fort Macon, and the steamer yacht Jutia will leave for Mobile with the assistant engineer and, several persons of the work on board. The latter will be quickly deserted. Another is said to be starting to transport the sick to the city. The official statement of yellow fever cases reported in the city to-day is as follows:

Deaths 7; new cases, 37; total cases to date, 807; total deaths, 95.

NEW YORK STATE.

Tilden Captures the Democratic Convention.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. The Graphic says it is understood that the Democratic State Committee meet at Saratoga this week to call a convention. Tilden is said to have captured the majority of the members, and it is thought he will be able to control the convention. It is rumored that his friends will make every effort to carry the next assembly with the view of sending Tilden to the Senate as Conkling's successor.

COLORED REPUBLICANS.

Schwab has telegraphed Kinney to come to Brooklyn and address a Socialist mass meeting from the City Hall steps Saturday night.

A Harrisburg despatch says that the discovery has been made that an over issue of the State loan was made in 1859, of one hundred thousand dollars. By whom the fraud was perpetrated there is no means of ascertaining as the books have been stolen.

Nicholas Mitchell could not pay a fine of $5, and costs for drunkenness, imposed by Judge Goodenow yesterday, and was sent up to jail.

The breaking of the rear axle threw two young gentlemen out of their wagon yesterday on Centre street. They escaped in any however.

The prayer meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is to be held at the First Baptist chapel, at four o'clock this afternoon, open to all.

Henry Willard and family, of Washington, D. C., were at the Bangor House yesterday morning, and proceeded to Mount Desert by steamer May Field.

Hon. Zachariah Chandler and ladies arrived in this city yesterday morning, and after breakfasting at the Bangor House took a private conveyance to Milwaukie.

The Russian officials now visiting our city and Augusta from the steamer Catharine, will return to Mount Desert on the City of Richmond connection on Saturday.

A new rotisserie will of course, to replace the old wooden one, which was in an advanced state of decay, is being built on York street by Street Commissioner Wingate.

Are there any more bears inland in Maine that can quite their mits in 2:30? That is what "Hercules" did the other day. He was formerly owned by Freeman Atwood.

BLUE CAP. Bangor Division No. 14, Sons of Temperance meet this evening when the committee will report on the excursion to Blue Cap, one of the most romantic places in our State.

The Sabbath School connected with the Central church make their annual excursion to-day in the Bangor Cadet, going to Fort Point and Castine. The Bangor leaves at oneabout wharf at eight o'clock.

St. John's Commandery K. T., May strong, accompanied by the full Bangor Band of 26 pieces, left for Skowhegan yesterday morning at nine o'clock by special train. They made a fine appearance and will have a delightful visit.

Pine Grove Grange, of Brewer Village, taking with them the members of Holden Grange, and a few friends from the Queen City Grange of this city, made an excursion to the Lake House, Phillips' Pond, on Tuesday, at which time they enjoyed one of the most delightful excursions of the season.

A man who has been employed of late as nurse to a sick man boarding on State-St., allowed himself to be overcome by liquor, as I going to the house hauled and shaved the landlady and kicked up such a fuss generally that the neighbors had to be called in to shut him from the house.

BAND CONCERT. St. John's Band will give a concert in Centre Park this evening, when the following programme will be presented:

[illegible]

The popularity of Northport is rapidly increasing that the Portland and Boston boats find it a matter of necessity as well as profit to make a landing there. The steamer Camb-ridge took a number of passengers from there to Belfast to-day, and we are informed that the City of Richmond leaves and to-on from Twenty-five to one hundred persons at that landing on each trip.

The grand excursion on the Maine Central Railroad to Old Orchard, Beach comes off on Thursday of next week, leaving this city on a special train at 8:45 A. M., arriving in Portland at 11 05 A. M. Returning will leave Portland at 5:30 P. M., arriving in Bangor at 11 05 P. M. The low rates at which the tickets are placed will undoubtedly induce large numbers of our citizens to avail themselves of the favorable opportunity afforded to visit this charming seaside resort.

FUNERAL. Miss Annie F. Powers, Assistant teacher in the Bangor High School, was yesterday morning united in marriage to Rev. Lewis J. Thomas, a graduate of the Bangor Theological Seminary of the class of '71, and who has been settled over the Congregational church at Chatham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Field, D. D., and was witnessed by a large number of the friends of the happy pair. They left the city on the Steamer Cambridge at eleven o'clock on their wedding tour.

CHARLOTTE THOMPSON. The many admirers of this talented actress in this city (and this includes all who have witnessed her magnificent delineations of character) will be delighted to know that she will again appear in our city with an excellent support, under the auspices of the Bukkin Club, on Friday, August 16th, on which she will appear in the charming role of Pauline, in Bulwer's celebrated play of the Lady of Lyons, on which occasion we do not hesitate to predict that she will play to a crowded house.

CALAIS. Our correspondent at Calais writes that the news of the renomination of Hon. Eugene Hale as member of Congress from the Fifth District, was received in that vicinity with no verbal satisfaction. Our correspondent adds: "Mr. Hale's past record has assured for him the esteem and confidence of the people in this District. All are united, having dropped personal difficulties, and joined hands and seem determined to give, Conkling and Hale rousing majorities in September; and with such men at the head of a ticket victory is sure to follow."

GROVE MEETING. The Christian people of Upper Penobscot will hold their annual Grove Meeting at Maple Grove, in Corinth, (a beautiful location on the premises of our worthy County Commissioner, Hiram Stevens, Esq.,) commencing Friday, 23d instant at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing three days. These meetings are held without the instrumentality of sect, and clergymen of all evangelical denominations are invited to take part therein. Several clergymen from abroad are expected to be present, and, as has been the case heretofore, the occasion will doubtless be one of much interest and profit.

AN instance of the care and attention bestowed upon the guests of the Kineo House, we would instance the following. One of the gentlemen that accompanied the Handel Knox-ologists, found when on his way home that he had lost a silk handkerchief, but how or where he knew not. So he let the matter drop without mentioning or further thinking of it. Yesterday he received the missing article by mail from Greenville with the simple remark appended, "left at the Kineo House." It was probably left in his room, and the chamber of the room indicating the occupant it was immediately forwarded to him. He returns his thanks to Mr. Denman for his politeness.

There are always two sides to a story, and in justice to the officers who went down on the "Up-river Excursion," we publish in another place Officer Pratt's reply to the strictures of our Lincoln correspondent, which, while not differing from the farmer's statement in the main features of the disgraceful affair, relieves the officers from the responsibility which belongs to others and not properly to them; and while admitting that Bangor rowdies had their part in the disturbance of the peace and quiet of the well-disposed and disgracefully and exceptionable, that only a portion of the roughs on board were from this city while others equally rough and rowdyish came with the party down up river.

SAD BEREAVEMENT. We regret to learn that Hon. J. B. Foster received a dispatch yesterday afternoon, announcing the sudden death of Miss, his youngest daughter, and wife of Rev. E. — Biggs, Missionary at East Saf y mission [illegible] Tur., on yesterday. Mrs. Biggs was a young lady of fine sense and intelligence, an amiable disposition, and rich in those rare and beautiful qualities of mind and heart which mark the christian woman, and will deeply deplored in the an sense during developing upon missionary work in a new country. Her death will be a sad blow to her husband and to the mission, and will be almost heartbroken to her family by whom she was so fervently loved, and the large circle of friends in whom she was so greatly endeared.

A DANGEROUS EXPERIMENT. Last Friday night, a valuable new pulpwagon in one of the mills, having Contents of the day, got loose from her shaft and floating her way to the mill boom got up against with its contents. The next morning on going to the stable the state of the case was discovered, and not knowing what was best to be done he concluded to do nothing, and therefore kept her tied up without food or water. In the course of twenty-four hours the dangerous effects of the over-eating had passed off, and the only noticeable change in the cow was an increase of two quarts of milk a day, which has been regularly kept up. We would not advise others of our readers to try the same experiment in order to increase the product of their dairies, as it is a dangerous one.

The schooner of one thousand Steamship Co.'s wharf, now rapidly approaching completion, will give a wharf frontage of 270 feet, and running back 200 feet or more to Front Street, will afford the best facilities for the accommodation of passengers and freight. A new slip is to be built, and on the upper end of the wharf a shed, capable of holding 1,000 tons of coal, is to be erected, the office and present store houses are to be moved west to this, and from the space occupied by them down to the present open shed, a warehouse is to be erected, made with sliding doors, so that it may be open, or in case of need, can be entirely closed up, so as to dispense the necessity of removing the goods as a pinfall. With these changes completed, the Steamer Company's accommodations at this end of the line, as it may are at the other, will be perfect.

SUNDAY EXCURSIONS. Mr. Editor:—These Sunday (some call them Saturday night) excursions are getting quite popular with some of the 'good and bad folks' stripe. I think they are good to help corrupt the good morals of the youth that are growing up so fast in this city. They need it, and besides, the church going folks that wish to go to an evening meeting on Sunday can go without being insulted at every corner of the streets they pass because so many of the loafers and roughs are away on those Sunday good times. Hope they will be kept up all summer, they do so much good.

TEMP. BANGONIA.

We print Major Stickford's card, because his vigorous language is always interesting. He is not very complimentary to those of our citizens who avail of the opportunity to get a sniff of the salt-sea air, and as our senior editor and his family propose taking a trip to Bar Harbor on the "City of Richmond" next Saturday, we hope they will think kindly of the Major while speeding over the waters whence he obtains such excellent fish.

THE UP-RIVER EXCURSION.

The Statements of Officer Pratt.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier.

With your permission I would like to correct some of the statements made concerning "the Up-River Excursion" by a correspondent at Lincoln, who was evidently one of the sufferers by the ruffianism of the roughs who had forced themselves upon the boat before the party left the wharf in this city.

His statements are in the main correct, but in some particulars erroneous and untrue. There was much disorder and many of the excursionists were shamefully treated by the roughs but the rufflanly class was not wholly from Bangor, many of the up-river stations having representatives of this element who were actively engaged in creating disturbances and outrages. The first trouble originated with a rough from Milford and many of his ilk from up-river came supplied with rum and ripe for rowdyism of all kinds.

Your correspondent states that he asked assistance of the Deputy Sheriffs to assist a party whom he charges in attempting to rob him. We were out of our County and jurisdiction and hence not empowered to make an arrest. The exception was a very large one, and we did all in our power to keep order, but among so many rowdies from up river as well as those from this city who were on board our duty was difficult in the extreme and was beyond the power of two officers clothed with limited authority. There was much drunkenness and parties from up river brought rum with them, and were as drunk and disorderly as were the roughs who belonged to this city.

Whoever is blamable for the outrages committed it is certainly not chargeable to the Deputy Sheriffs, whose service on the police force of Bangor for a number of years shed so Deputy Sheriffs has not failed to put them on friendly terms with roughs in or out of the city. We did our duty so far as was in our power without over-stepping our authority as officers of Penobscot County. And in justice to some of the Irish-Americans of Bangor, we will say that we received from them valuable aid and assistance in try ing to keep order.

Church Organization in East Bangor.

An Ecclesiastical Council convened at East Bangor, Aug. 7, 1872, of which Rev. J. E. Adams was Moderator, and Rev. A. L. Bourne, Scribe, and organized a Congregational Church in that place, comprising twenty-three members, who had been previously connected with churches in various places.

The services were commenced with an Anthem, by the choir, viz, by Mr. T. Tibbey, "How beautiful thy garments." Prayer by the Moderator. Statement in behalf of the members of the Church and response to questions prepared by Dr. Pond. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Hamlin, from 1 Tim. 3 15, "The church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." Remarks by Rev. J. E. Adams, on systematic benevolence. Remarks by Rev. Dr. Pond, on the office of Deacons; following which was the consecration of two Deacons, chosen by the Church—David Lambert and Rivers L. Walbridge.

Dr. Pond offered the prayer of consecration of the church and its officers.

Two members were added to the church on profession of their faith; Rev. J. E. Adams conducting the service.

The interesting services were closed by the Administration of the Lord's Supper, Rev. Dr. Hamlin and the Moderator officiating.

Several Hymns were sung during the service of the afternoon, by the congregation, led by the choir.

Rev. Messrs. Fay and Spaun, and Rev. Dr. Fiske, were expected to be present, but were unavoidably prevented; the two former were out of the city.

Rev. Robert P. True is the acting Pastor of this church. Mr. Dillon Klingbury was elected Clerk.

BROWNVILLE.

BROWNVILLE, Aug. 5th, 1872. Hon. L. Powers and Hon. D. P. Davis addressed the citizens of this place on Monday, Aug. 5th, on the financial issues of the day, which were ably presented by these gentlemen; and we predict that Mr. Powers will receive a large majority in this place in September. In 1870, he ran behind his ticket 49, but the indications are that he will run ahead this year, considerable notwithstanding.

The Oddfellows here (all one, who have so long been the champions of Penobscot County, having never been beaten,) have been disbanded. A few farmers are not quite done haying, and the continuation of wet weather which we are having is making it bad for them. An abundant crop is being harvested, mostly in an excellent condition.

Blue Mountain.

A correspondent at East Newport writes: "Politically, the skies are brightening fast in this vicinity. The meeting here Saturday night was very successful. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. The people are current shakers for the truth, and the effect of the meeting is already apparent. There was at one time a strong Greenback defection among the Republicans, but I do not believe to-day, there is one where two months ago, there were dozens. The recent nominations are most distasteful to Republicans. They see that this movement is leading them into the Democratic camp and they are leaving the Greenback organizations and returning to their allegiance. I only speak for this locality but I think what is true of this section, is true of other portions of the State."

MOOSEHEAD LAKE AND KINEO ARRANGEMENTS.

How to get there and How to enjoy it.

The saying that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country," applies to other than prophets, for it is equally true that many of the most attractive spots in the world are least known to those who travel hundreds and thousands of miles to enjoy the beauty and grandeur that have remained unsolicited and unsupplied by those living almost in their very sight. And we have an instance of this almost at our own doors. For variety, beauty, and grandeur of landscape, purity of air, charm of picturesque, diversity of enjoyment, and absolute perfection in regards health and cleanliness, there is no place in our whole country that offers superior inducements to the tourist or to the tired citizen seeking rest and quiet than that noble sheet of water,

MOOSEHEAD LAKE.

And while those who within a few years past have enjoyed the attractions of this beautiful resort are numbered by thousands and embrace representatives of nearly every State in the Union—the greater number being from Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Providence, &c.—the number from our own city who have visited it is almost incredibly small, while every summer hundreds of our citizens visit the more distant, more overcrowded, more expensive and really less attractive resorts of Saratoga, Long Branch, Old Orchard, Mount Desert and the like. The fact is, in the matter of seeing the beautiful, our citizens are troubled with that disease known to coolists as "prostropia," or far-sightedness, and the subject of this article is the same as that of the specimens furnished for the aged—to enable the reader to see with clearness the beauty and magnificence which lie immediately around him. Let us show first

HOW TO GET THERE.

Taking the "Bangor and Moosehead Lake" car on the E. & N. A. Railroad at 7h o'clock A. M., you are carried to Oldtown, at which place you are switched off on the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad, where an engine stands ready to take you along on your way over a good road, and through the beautiful scenery and past the fertile farms on the intervals of the Piscataquis river. At a little past eleven o'clock Conductor Swan calls out "Blanchard," and the train has reached its destination. Alighting from the cars you are at once struck with a sense of hitherto unparalleled grandeur and magnificence. Lofty hills, stretching away far as the eye can reach, and growing loftier, dimmer and bluer as the distance increases; deep valleys descending hundreds of feet below where you stand, and reminding the traveller of the picturesque views obtained on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, over the Alleghanies, and greatly resembling them, cause an involuntary exclamation of astonishment and admiration from the beholder who, for the first time, enjoys the delightful scene. At this place a restaurant will furnish the tourist with lunch or dinner, if he wishes to dine before reaching Greenville. While you have been enjoying the scenery the train has moved away and in its place stands one or more, as the occasion requires, of Morrison & Hunting's elegant Concord coaches with its six magnificent bays or grays, and under the charge of Charles Lord or Will Guertill, two thoroughly reliable and accomplished drivers, ready to take you on roughs in or out of the city. We did one duty so far as was in our power without over-stepping our authority as officers of Penobscot County. And in justice to some of the Irish-Americans of Bangor, we will say that we received from them valuable aid and assistance in try ing to keep order.

But we cannot begin to detail all the attractions to be found at the foot of the Lake, otherwise we shall have no space to take the reader up to

MOUNT KINEO.

Taking the commodious steamer "Gov. Coburn," commanded by the veteran Capt. Thomas Robinson, the pioneer of passenger steamboat navigation on the Lake, you cast off from the wharf at about three o'clock and start on your trip up the Lake. Passing along by Squaw Mountain, lying on the Western shore, through a cluster of small islands which dot the lower end of the lake, you observe Mile Island, and see that what you took at the wharf to be a sail boat, is a beacon to show its location when covered by the high water of the spring freshets. Three miles from Greenville, you obtain a glimpse of the Mallard Head Plains, a pretty farm on the eastern shore, high up the hill, owned by a gentleman from New York, and which as we have elsewhere said, affords a magnificent view of the lake, and from which at sunset is obtained a view that is indescribable in its grandeur and sublimity. Passing in succession Sandy Bay, Moose Island, Squaw Bay, and Burnt Jacket you see before and to the right of you Lily Bay, while away beyond it the Lily Bay range of mountains add to the charm of the scenery. Passing between Deer and Sugar Islands, the two largest in size in the Lake, comprising respectively 3000 and 2000 acres in extent, and the latter five miles in length, you will find that ten miles, or one-half the distance to Kineo, has been passed.

A magnificent view now presents itself. At this point the Lake opens out to its greatest width, the distance from the Outlet, which you see four miles to the west, to the head of which stretches away to the east, being eighteen miles. At the same time that you enter the "open sea," Mount Kineo, which has hitherto been concealed from view by the dense wood with which Deer Island is covered, rises up before you, and is immediately recognized by all from its peculiarity of outline, while at its base, sitting upon the broad plateau that makes out into the Lake like a parade ground under the walls of an impanese fortification, you can just discern the long line of buildings that comprise the Kineo House. Steaming away from the Islands you see fifteen miles or more away to the eastward the two beautiful mountain peaks called the "Spencer, Twins," while far beyond them, forty miles to the eastward, grand old Mount Katahdin, 6000 feet in height, stands in majestic solitude, his head veiled in clouds. Passing by several small islands, and a number of well cultivated farms on the western shore, you notice that the width of the Lake has rapidly decreased, and now opposite Mount Kineo is hardly more than a mile in width. Changing her course the "Gov. Coburn" runs for a pretty Cove at the right, and is upon along side a fine wharf at the very doors of the which now stands before you in all its ample proportions. In place of the one antiquated tenement, with their infernal din, you see only a solitary express wagon of diminutive size, on which is painted "Kineo Express," drawn by a still more diminutive specimen of a donkey, on whose head some fair hands have placed a handsome wreath of flowers,—for the don key is always a favorite among the ladies at a watering place. Standing on the wharf you have a good opportunity to observe the house itself, and you are surprised to find so far away, among the woods and mountains so large, handsome and commodious a hotel.

About ten years ago, a few weeks after Mr. C. A. Denman, the present courteous, affable, polite and attentive Superintendent, took charge of the hotel, it was burned down, and for the two succeeding years the accommodations were limited to a bowling alley that escaped the flames, and a few small shanties.

In 1870 the new house was commenced and completed in 1874, but this though containing double the room of the old one, proved altogether inadequate to the demands upon it, and in 1876 an additional building or "annex" was commenced and completed the present year and was opened for the first time in a complete state for the use of the

HANDEL EXCURSIONISTS.

This building is of itself four stories in heights and contains forty rooms, including a store, billiard room, and barber's room. The main house contains a hundred rooms including a very large and well-ventilated dining hall, a large and handsomely furnished parlor,—embracing among its furnishings a fine Concert grand piano,—a waiting room, reading room, office, &c.

A spacious piazza extends along the west side and both ends of the house, while against the side of the house racks are fixed from which are suspended the sportsman's rods and landing nets, while the large zinc pans stand ready upon the walk to exhibit the trophies of the rod and line. Beside the two houses comprising the hotel and capable of accommodating from 200 to 250 guests, there are a laundry, bowling alley, boat house, blacksmith shop, barn and stables, and a fine forced pump carries water to every part of the building. Well arranged fire escapes provide against any emergencies that may possibly arise. The sleeping rooms are of good size, all of them pleasant, and the windows of each command of lake, forest, mountain and valley. A large vegetable garden supplies the table with what is desired in the line, pleasant fresh, while a lucky mess farm belonging to the establishment furnishes support for the choicest cows, calves, sheep, pigs and chickens which carry on the business of the place and furnish the meat, poultry and eggs for the table. The best house connected with a hotel of course and new hotel which can be had at a very low rate, while the Mile Stream packet "Day Dream" belonging to the house, is ready to take parties to any part of the lake. A handsome lawn surrounds the house and lovers of croquet or base ball have ample room for indulging in the pleasures and dangers of the game.

A short walk from the house brings you to the base of the mountain, under whose majestic shadow you wind through pleasant paths to Cliff Beach, which with Pebbly Beach just beyond, thickly covered with curious and beautiful pebbles like those strewn upon the seashore, furnishes a delightful ramble. Kineo Bay lies before you, and North Bay stretches away in an unbroken expanse fifteen or twenty miles to the head of the Lake.

is also a favorite resort for the lovers of quiet and the beautiful.

Procuring the services of a guide and taking a canoe or boat, you are landed on the western end of Mount Kineo, and taken through intricate and somewhat difficult paths up the mountain side to the summit of the cliff, from which you may reach over, and down its perpendicular side drop a pebble into the lake 900 feet below, but the pebble will then have passed over only half its course as the bottom of the lake at this place is almost 900 feet from the surface. From the top of the mountain a broad panorama unfolds itself to the beauties of which no pen can do adequate justice.

From this place North, Bay, Spencer Bay, the East and West Outlet, Moose River, Brassua Lake, Kenebec, the Spencer Twins, the Lily Bay Range, Bald Head, Little Kineo—an almost island, appliance of Kineo in reduced size—the Canada Boundary mountains, and, down at the foot of the lake, Squaw mountain, can all be seen; and here, with your face toward Old Quebec and seated on Kineo with the guide book in your hand, is a good place to read the LEGEND OF KINEO.

If one desires to indulge in Izaak Walton's favorite occupation he has only to take a boat, with or without a guide, and rowing out to the buoy half a mile from the hotel, fasten his boat to the buoy, and dropping his hook baited with the bait, until patiently for the white fish and trout which are sure to reward his labors. Deep water fishing continues through July and the early part of August, when dep-fishing, the favorite of sportsmen is indulged in the latter part of August and through September. Besides the vicinity of Kineo, The Outlet, Moose River, Brassua Lake, Indian Lake, Baker Brook, Seboomook River and many other places furnish excellent fishing grounds, from any of which one is almost certain to return well laden with splendid trout.

To the lovers of the hunt or of camping out, the fine places within reach of Kineo are too many, and the game there numerous to be specified within the limits of a newspaper article.

Moose, bears, deer, caribou, beavers, minks, black-cats and otters; bald eagles, ducks, loons and partridges, comprise but a small portion of the game with which the country from the lake to Katahdin and in the vicinity of the West Branch of the Penobscot abounds; all of which places are easily accessible from the where a good hotel is kept by John Ross, of this city, and with which communication is had either by canoe or sail boat, or by one of the three steamers plying on the lake, namely: the "Governor Coburn," Capt. Thos. Robinson, the "Twilight," Capt. Charles Robinson, son of the former, a skilful pilot and a courteous gentleman, or the "Day Dream," Capt. Daniel Brown, also a skilful pilot, and always ready to impart information to tourists.

Having shown how to get to the lake and what to see there, it is not our purpose to exhaust the subject but simply to give an idea of the beauties and attractions of the region, leaving most to the readers' imagination and future experience.

There are some other points of attraction at the head at Kineo that we cannot let pass unnoticed. Chief among these is the delightful air; pure, balmy and invigorating, so dry is it that such a thing as a chilly feeling is never experienced, and even when the mercury is low in the thermometer, one can sit in a late hour in the evening on the piazza or in the open air, listening to the wierd cry of the loon, without the slightest sensation of discomfort. Again the of the place is a subject of general remark. No dust, no dirt, and it is into nothing how few changes of linen one requires. And at this season of the year these terrible pests mosquitoes and black flies neither molest nor make you afraid, while that only less terrible pest, the house fly, is hardly to be seen. Added to this, such means, then both, a well furnished table, carefull and unremitted attentions of the Proprietor and his assistants, and the utter absence of substantials fees for charges, and what more could one desire for a place of summer resort?

The fare from Bangor to Greenville by rail and stage is $3.50 and to Kineo by boat $1.00 more. Excursion tickets to Kineo and return $7.00. Board at either the Eveleth or Lake houses at Greenville is $2.00 per day for transient visitors, and from $7.00 to $10.00 per week. At the Mount Kineo House the terms are $2.50 per day, transient, and from $10.00 to 13.00 per week.
